

Operation Number 141128-9.1		Date November 28, 2014
Operation Title Operation DEMO2		Location MacDonald Farm, Nova Scotia
Officers Involved	Inspector James Yongestreet Sgt. Ed Monton Dr. Woodbine Greenwood	Lead Officer Insp. Yongestreet
Report of Events  Information had been received by Q Division through regular channels that cult activity had been on the increase, and that there was likely to be an incident undertaken on the night of November 28/29 in the vicinity of Old MacDonald's farm. In the event of the report being true a team under Inspector Yongestreet was dispatched to investigate and deal with the situation.  A cult group had gathered, consisting of three members with various armaments and a fourth inhuman member who was undoubtedly there for nefarious reasons. The Q Division team approached the ruins of the old farm on foot as recent storms had made the road impassable, with blown down trees and muddy roadways. Insp. Yongestreet spread the team out in a broad pattern as a means to encircle the group for capture.  Advancing, Yongestreet and Greenwood positioned themselves at a wall, while Sgt. Monton provided cover on the left flank. The cultists advanced boldly, the scale-covered half fish, half man perhaps most aggressively of all. Monton engaged the creature at a distance with his 9mm pistol, hitting the beast and wounding it, but not bringing it down.  Yongestreet took fire from a cultist who was hiding in the ruins, but was not hit. He returned fire and was able to eliminate the threat, who turned out to be the leader of the cultists.		Comments  2nd Ed Demo is run as a straight fight.  Q Division won the initiative roll.  The Fishman was hit and wounded once. The red marker is a wound indicator.  Failed his cover save and took two wounds and a major injury.

Report of Events Seeing his leader taken out, a cultist who had advanced to the wall near Sgt. Monton became enraged. Leaping over the wall the red-robed assailant engaged Sgt. Monton in single combat. Though he put up a good fight, Sgt. Monton was injured and fell to the ground, a victim of the cultist's sharp knife. Not satisfied with the Sergeant, the frenzied cultist charged Dr. Greenwood and engaged him in single combat. The Doctor met knife with knife and stood the cultist off. The fish-monster meanwhile charged Insp. Yongestreet. Though horrified by the creature's appearance, the Inspector stood his ground and fought against the thing's claws. The creature dove for the officer, but it mistimed its dive and Yongestreet took full advantage. With a mighty blow, Yongestreet sent the thing back to whatever unhallowed place it came from. In the battle with the knife armed cultist, Doctor Greenwood was finally able to extricate himself to a safe distance. Before the cultist could resume his attacks, Yongestreet fired over the wall and knocked the man out. At the same time he was taking fire from the last cultist on the other side of the ruins. Yongestreet ordered the Doctor to take the cultist while returning fire across the ruins. Greenwood then continued forward to the end of the wall, looking to encircle the final, strong willed cultist. The sense of impending doom must have spoiled the cultist's concentration because he didn't keep to proper cover. Yongestreet and Greenwood both fired, hitting the cultist and ending the battle. In examining the area, and searching the prisoners, an interesting	Comments The cultist failed his res roll for seeing his leader leave the table and frenzied. Monton was taken out with a major wound. Greenwood won with six hits(!), but failed to injure the cultist. Yongestreet got a critical hit, as the Fishman had a critical miss. Report of Events discovery was made. One of the cultists had in their possession a fragment of some form of map. It's not known what this is a map for, but it will certainly bear further investigation. Sgt. Monton was able to make a full recovery from his wounds suffered, however he has now developed a marked aversion to blood. Indeed, on the event of someone in the office getting a paper cut, the sergeant fell into an almost catatonic state. Hopefully this can be corrected through therapy or medication.	Comments Discovered a single map piece. Monton rolled Hemaphobia as his long term result of his major injury.
